ABOUT ME

I am a professional passionate about merging business strategy and technology. Throughout my career, I have led high-demand e-commerce initiatives for global brands, focusing on designing memorable user experiences (UX/UI) that not only retain customers but skyrocket conversion rates.

My approach integrates advanced analytics with technical development. I drive data-backed decision-making using Google Analytics 4, Search Console, and BrightEdge. Within the development ecosystem, I master frontend engineering with React and Tailwind CSS, enabling me to prototype and deploy ultra-fast interfaces.

My key differentiator is the ability to automate business processes through Artificial Intelligence, a milestone consolidated with the creation of OSCAR: an autonomous commercial agent integrated with large language models (Gemini AI) that acts as a Single Source of Truth (SSoT). I possess the professional background and interpersonal skills required to act as a linguistic and strategic bridge between technical teams, clients, and commercial business units.
